Am I truly alone

in despising ritual?
Yearning to be left unroped.

I know that

critics are right: we require the social

glue. Wrong
not to give

a shit. Why does it gratify so?